Sauce Magazine and SauceMagazine.com were founded locally by Catherine Neville and Allyson Mace. Created as a way to expose the restaurant scene in St. Louis and promote the art of eating well, the Web site SauceMagazine.com was launched in 1999. Sauce Magazine was introduced in October of 2001.

Published once a month, Sauce Magazine is freely distributed throughout the St. Louis area, with a 70,000+ circulation as of August, 2005. Like the online version, content of the print magazine is focused on St. Louis area dining and entertainment, with original feature articles, reviews, recipes and interviews. Sauce Magazine also covers the local bar and music scene and, in conjunction with the Regional Arts Commission, the St. Louis art world.
